So I thought to myself well the winter is past no other man but her man, the one, come this week back and smiling on me, have I got a card, and he, or I took Miss April on sight, he should be a loss who wanted to play, and what she has come to is far too much, its left only the today.

After the serving of a dainty lunch a messenger boy was admitted at the front door, who had a telegram for Mrs. J. Willie Brewster, mother of the hostess. When opened, it read "Am coming for Jean in June," signed "Clarence." Thus the news of the event was officially made known to the assemblage, and a period of excitement ensued.

BIG APPLE MONTH

EAT an apple a day during April and put health in your body and money in your pocket.

That is the slogan for April suggested to the people of Pennsylvania by J. Hansell French, State Secretary of Agriculture.

Last year's bumper crop of 17,000,000 bushels of Pennsylvania apples forced farm prices down below the fair-profit margin and an abnormally large April carry-over from that crop is forcing prices down still lower.

There are 1,000,000 bushels of Pennsylvania-grown apples in cold storage. Because many of them will deteriorate if not consumed this month and the growers face a big economic loss.

Consumers stand to gain as much as the growers from the sale of these apples. The food and medicinal values of Pennsylvania apples are known to all and the money spent by Pennsylvanians for Pennsylvania apples is returned to Pennsylvanians through those industries in this State which supply orchardists with machinery, packing supplies, spray chemicals and other supplies.

Pennsylvania is observing April as "Pennsylvania Big Apple Month."

HIGH COST OF BALLYHOO

Representative Thomas protests that the American taxpayer is paying too much for propaganda. He says that in 1936 alone 669,352,060 pieces of mail weighing 91,125,145 pounds were sent out by the executive departments in Washington at a total cost of $32,239,569, most of the stuff consisting of the literary products of high-pressure publicity men and ghost writers.

This would seem to be a fertile field of inquiry. Certainly the country is in no position to finance so costly a scheme of "selling" any particular brand of politics to its citizenship.

AIR DISASTER FIGURES

During the last six months of 1937 there were three fatal accidents on commercial airlines, in which 29 passengers and eight crew members were killed. Such things terrify some people and make them decide never to go up in an airplane. Mostly, however, those who are already accustomed to air travel and many new-comers go right ahead patronizing transport planes.

Figures compiled by the Bureau of Air Commerce, indicate that these determined passengers are not taking undue risks. In the same six months in which the three fatal crashes occurred, the scheduled airlines of the United States flew 1,839,799 miles per accident. They flew 10,618,964 passenger-miles for every fatality. These figures indicate why commercial aviation continues to develop.

DOGS MAY DEMAND NEW DEAL

Pointers-with-pride at Uncle Sam's housing projects might well join the viewers-with-arms in watching to see what happens at a large FHA-financed apartment development in the Queens borough of Greater New York City, where a prospective thumbs-down on pets is becoming far more than a local "cause celebre." Not to mention "casus belli."

Some other Federal housing projects, such as at Greenbelt, Maryland, have regimented the dwellers' lives to the point of choosing their wash-days. No doubt the trend will soon extend to pianos, and only virtuosos may be permitted to own them. This has its points, but the alarm-viewers are anxiously oiling up their telescopes to see what may follow. However, if Washington bans the dogs in Queens it will bar them from the more abundant life, and what dog lover wants to graze in green pastures if he must leave his pup behind?

THE NEXT PHASE?

Unless a miracle occurs, the Spanish civil war is in its last stage with the forces of General Francisco Franco the victors. The long drawn-out war, a constant threat to European and world peace, has passed its climax, and many observers believe the Loyalists would have surrendered weeks ago had it not been for "outside" pressure.

When the final shot has been fired, Spain will face the most serious problem in its long history—the building of a new country over the ashes of once gloriously beautiful and now horribly ravaged cities and with a population diminished and shocked by the carnage of modern warfare.

The United States can appreciate only in part the task that lies ahead of Spain. Reconstruction was a paramount problem in this country after our civil war of 1861-65, but the needs in no measure compared with those of modern Spain.

Spain must repair the damage caused by twentieth century warfare. She must unite a people in whose hearts hate burns deeply because of the ferocity of the internal struggle. And—she must reckon with the two countries responsible for the rebel's victory, Italy and Germany.

Will the silence over Spain's battlefields herald the coming of peace or will it be the signal for a new struggle much more international in scope than the civil war? Realizing how Great Britain needs Spanish friendship to protect her interests in the Mediterranean, how determined Germany and Italy will press their claims and how dangerous France would regard the presence of another fascist power at her borders, one wonders what will be the next phase of the Spanish war.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

BOY UNDISCIPLINED

"DEAR DR. MYERS: I'm writing this letter for a friend of mine. You helped me with a problem I had a few years ago.

"Milton is four, but does not seem to learn how to mind. When he was toddling one day he picked up a butcher knife and swung it around. With the mother's consent, I took it, held his hand and with the back of the knife ran it over his hand explaining how it would hurt, then laid it up. He immediately grabbed it again. . . . He does not refrain from doing wrong by talking, explaining, punishing or anything the mother or father do. Just row the mother telephoned me. After we had talked a few words she said, 'Wait a minute.' Milton had climbed on the table, taken some kodak pictures and films, crumpled them and had thrown them into the fireplace. . . . He takes constant watching.

"Now his mother has tried talking to him, explaining thoroughly. She has punished and punished. Well I should say. . . . One day I saw Milton pick up a brick and throw it in rage at a neighbor boy. This mother is desperate. Please help her.

"Oh, yes, her punishment this morning for taking the films was to tie his hands behind him and put him in a chair. He got sassy, called her names, so she washed his mouth out with soap suds. Milton will act this same way, no matter under whose supervision he is placed. He's here one minute and the next probably in the next room getting or doing something he shouldn't have or do."

I told her of a pamphlet I wrote on teaching the child to mind, and where it could be secured, and referred her to the chapter on punishment in my book, "The Modern Parent." Then I wrote about as follows:

Where Difficulty Lies

The trouble with this mother is that she has tried so hard to reason with her child, that when at last she is so panicky as to punish, she neither is fit then to punish him nor is he fit to profit from the punishment. Tell her to pick out just a few things (and let others go for the present) he is most likely to do repeatedly that he should never do, and resolve beforehand that every time he does those few things she will spank him instantly—without even explaining first, since he already understands he should not do them. She should discipline herself so as to be consistent, allowing not a single exception to her plan, so that always pain follows instantly the specific act that had been forbidden. After he is punished, or while he is being punished, she should keep no account of his talk. The main purpose is to make so painful that specific act that it will not be repeated, or soon will not be. Tell her never to tie him for punishment, nor wash out his mouth with soap, but to bare his bottom and give him several vigorous slaps on his bare thighs with her bare hand, and really make it hurt. Once he will say where pain without holding or tying, she can abandon spanking.

WHAT SORT OF MUG?

"What has become of all those old mugs you used to see in the barber shops?"

"Oh, most of them are shaving themselves now, I guess."

It is estimated that the history of the A. E. P. which is now being compiled by the federal government will require five million words. According to a local war veteran, that is one word per 1,000 words.

One of the greatest outfalls in the civil war was Battery B of Mt. Jackson. The money for a new monument to its memory should have been raised in a week. Only $800 has been raised and it takes $500. Do your bit, no matter how small.

Music is the hardest route to fame. When a violinist reaches the top, he is only one of the fiddlers in So-and-so's orchestra.

Grandfather no longer spoils the children. Everybody else gives them so much there is nothing left for him to do.

Hog bristle importers announce that there will be no shortage of brushes, because in spite of the war in China, there are still 40,000,000 pigs still alive there. It looks like the Japs haven't yet brought home the bacon.

During political campaigns New Castle always gets to see and hear nobles who do not come here just to be seen and heard.

On the Massachusetts north shore 500 diggers have organized to protect the interest of the lowly clam. Heretofore the clam has had no voice.

Chicken ala king is often the left over of the day before—if it isn't veal or something else.

So far no one has told us if the peach crop has been ruined or not. Why isn't the reason how?

At Hempstead, N.Y., a fire whistle has been installed that can be heard for thirty miles. But the property close to that tooter will be reduced in price. A half a mile or so is long enough distance to hear a fire whistle.

Attorney General Margell has a speech entitled "The Flight of Jobs." From the looks of things his job is about ready to take a long fly.

The World At A Glance

Strange Forces Are At Work
See Stormy Election In 1940
Emotions May Play High Part

By LESLIE EICHEL,
Central Press Columnist

MEN HAVE BEGUN to wonder concerning the 1940 presidential campaign. The closest observers do not like the looks of it. The same forces at work in the remainder of the world have begun to grip the United States. Liberalism may be fighting for its life against an American form of fascism in 1940. On the liberal side, those observers are the Roosevelt, the La Follette, the Norris, the Landon—on the other side, certain forces that now are battling over Roosevelt or liberal endeavor with a cry of "dictatorship" or "communism."

President Roosevelt probably will not be a factor after 1940. He already is a tired fighter.

That analysis may anger many persons—but that is the view being discussed quickly by men who usually are cautious and able observers.

They believe that some of the persons now shouting "dictator" at President Roosevelt may be caught around after 1940 and "demanded" a dictator "to protect us" from "radicals."

That may be a queer picture of America—but it is a queer world these days. It reminds one of H. G. Wells' new book, "The World to Come." In this story, Wells "foresees" a Fascist-Communist war in Europe, with brother arrayed against brother. The Fascist leader, winning and becoming dictator, cannot stop what he has begun and is slain by the same sun that kills his Communist brother in the hands of a misguided patriot.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT
(Copyright 1937)

AS THE reorganization bill approaches its final test in the House it is interesting and worth while to note the change in attitude toward this measure, since it was first launched, of various political and journalistic observers in position to be independent and detached.

AT THAT TIME—early in 1937—they were pronouncedly pro-Administration. Mr. Roosevelt was at the very peak of his prestige and popularity. In the last year they have become more and more critical. The effort to pack the Supreme Court was the first alienating cause, but the clear fact that the whole New Deal has bogged down that nothing is working, that common sense is not being applied to the problems of the Roosevelt depression, that the whole Administration presents a spectacle of messy confusion and incompetence, and that the people generally are becoming disillusioned and distrustful—these things have swung some very conspicuous defenders into vicious critics.

HOWEVER, they apparently have been deterred from really effective opposition, partly by the apprehension that somehow Mr. Roosevelt may regain his strength and partly by natural disinclination to contradict themselves. In nothing has this been clearer than in this reorganization bill. When the Brownlow report and the first draft of the bill were presented by the President in a message to Congress a little more than a year ago, the proposal was enthusiastically applauded by some of our most eminent publicists, though it then proposed to give the President control over the six or seven great quasi-judicial boards such as the Interstate Commerce

WE were told then that the bill embodied a vital and greatly needed reform. Nor was this blanket endorsement modified after it had been pointed out—first, that the scheme supplanted the authority of Congress and unparliamentarily embroiled the power of the President, second, that it was unduly and completely ignored the possibility of any reduction in the cost of government. In the last three months, however the fight against the emasculated bill has stirred such a resentment that neither these former enthusiasts nor anyone else now offers an affirmative argument for the bill. On the contrary, the arguments are all more or less apologetic and defensive—at least upon the part of those who at the start insisted it was a vital and much-needed reform.

NOW they say that the bill is not really important, but that it has certain merits and its faults have been greatly exaggerated by the opposition. And they further assert that the opponents are as determined to defeat it so as to prevent Mr. Roosevelt from gaining a political victory as Mr. Roosevelt is to pass it so as to show he has not lost his political leadership. There is no longer any contention that the bill will create greater efficiency and it

OLD AND EXPRESSIVE.

One would be led to believe that the history of Socialism only dates from Karl Marx. The Communist is supposed to be a later development of the Socialist, just as the Socialist is a later development of the old-fashioned very much further back than Lenin and Trotsky. There is, however, "nothing new under the sun." The world has always had the Socialist and the Communist with them, by this or that name. The word "Communist" can be found in pretty old dictionaries, but rarely did it ever, until the Great War, appear in newspapers and magazines. It is not a newly coined word, for way back in 1820, the "Corn Law Rhymester" of England contained the following definition:

"What is a Communist? One who, in his own mind, has a plan for equal division of unequal earnings. Fidler or bungler, or both, he is willing. To fork out his copper and pocket your shilling."

What Noted People Say

WASHINGTON—Rep. John J. O'Connor, D. N. Y., answers various arguments for passage of the reorganization bill in some form: "All I know is that the country wants no bill whatever."

PARIS—Premier Leon Blum answers a veiled accusation that he seeks to become a dictator: "I would be incapable of it."

NEW YORK—Professor James H. Means, president of the American College of Physicians, attacks conduct of the American Medical Association: "The behavior of the American Medical Association is pitiful. It is partisan behavior."

SALZBURG—Chancellor Hitler issues a blistering warning: "Whoever does not want to march with us may stand aside but whoever opposes us either by force or intrigue will learn the might of our state and of our government."

Dear Miss Markel—I have just returned from the hospital and would like to know the procedure for thanking friends for flowers, fruit and letters received while there.

Answer—For gifts presented personally, verbal thanks already given will suffice.

Letters and gifts sent should be acknowledged by you as soon as you are able, or by a member of your family.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing a self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

STUPID

A foolish sort of fellow watched the soldiers marching by. He heard the bugles blowing and he saw the women cry. "Oh tell me, sir," he questioned of a stranger standing near. "Where will the medalled ministers and chaplains appear? I'd like to see them trace the troops to meet the foe." The stranger answered: "Stupid! Those fellows never go."

The foolish fellow whispered: "For years I've hoped that I could see some gallant war lord march out to do or die. Before the war is over I've wished my luck 'twould be. To have some great dictator pined side by side with me." His comrade answered: "Stupid! His death were no more than where the boys are dying the war lords don't appear."

One day this foolish fellow at rest on dress parade said: "Who's that chap in medals for whom this ruse is made? And why the guard about him? We've quit the battle zone. Just what is he afraid of that he won't walk alone?" "Stupid!" his comrade answered. "You get your learning hard. You'll never see a war lord without a body guard."

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

(Material Gathered and Edited by Student Reporters)

NEW JUNIOR KIWANIANS

At the regular Wednesday luncheon of the Kiwanis, David Updegraff and Dan Schnelbe took their places as new Junior Kiwanians, while the retiring members, Richard Johns and James Howley, were on hand to welcome them and to make short addresses of thanks to the Kiwanis club itself for the honor it gave them.

Every four months, the New Castle Chapter of the Kiwanis selects two Senior A boys from the high school to act as Junior Kiwanians. The Kiwanis does this in order that some of the younger generation might know of the activities and achievements of the older citizens. This junior membership affords both Updegraff and Schnelbe the privilege of attending all Kiwanis meetings and the Wednesday luncheons held by the organization.

EASTER VACATION

The long waited for Easter vacation has come at last, and now the students may remain their last sleep or lose more if they so desire.

Friday marked the beginning of an era of rest which is customary at this time of year. The vacation this year is longer than usual, extending to Tuesday, April 19, when students will again pick up their books and trek back to school.

BOYS' RIFLE CLUB

The Ne-Ca-Hi Boys' Rifle Club

held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening in the gymnasium. President James Emerick was in charge of the short business meeting during which plans were laid to adopt a club emblem. With the help of an emblem and other similar devices, the boys hope to build the club and make it one of the school's permanent organizations.

SHORTHAND AWARDS

Miss Mona Sowash of the commercial department announces that the following students have received certificates certifying that they have qualified for the March 100-word Gregg speed test:

Pauline Waigo, Lois Brennaman, Ella Ringer, Margaret Bideaux, Muriel Miller, Frances Valletta, Louis Tozzi, Anna Rozak, Jennie Nucci and Robert Dunlap.

CLEAN-UP DAY

Each semester the Student Council sponsors a "clean-up" day. This day is set aside for the purpose of cleaning desks and lockers of waste paper. It is not unusual to see a student tear up paper and deposit it in desks and lockers rather than baskets provided for this purpose. Thus, on Thursday of this week, students cleaned their lockers and desks which then passed inspection one hundred per cent perfect.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

An assembly program was held in the high school auditorium on Tuesday morning of this week for the second assembly group. The program consisted of the story of Easter in song, given by the high school chorus, under the direction of Robert Duff. The chorus is made up of nearly 100 voices, and has achieved notable success in their public appearances and have progressed admirably in the past months.

Mr. Duff read portions of the scripture concerning the Easter story, and as each reading was concluded, the chorus would take up the theme in song.

GIRL RESERVES

The Girl Reserve meeting which was held in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium on Monday evening, was in the form of an Easter program. Devotions in keeping with the Easter season were read by Louise Shaffer.

Mrs. Chester T. R. Yeates, who with her husband, the Rev. Yeates, traveled in Europe, Egypt, and the Holy Lands, gave a talk using picture illustrations. These pictures proved very interesting and instructive.

The New Castle Y. W. C. A. had pledged itself to a national fund to be used for relief work in China. Each club must do its part and the high school Girl Reserves considered means for raising their pledge.

EASTER TEA

On Thursday, April 7, the young cooking class of the Home Economics department served an Easter tea to teachers. Hostesses for the occasion were Mary Moldvan and Jennie Spiker. Twenty guests were present.

This class, under the supervision of Miss Wallace, has also been making one and five pound Easter eggs. Their results have been very satisfactory.

MAGICIAN SHOW

Bailey, the Magician, appeared on the high school stage in a performance sponsored by the Senior B class for the benefit of their class treasury.

He performed several amazing tricks. Perhaps the most amazing of these was the removal of one of our prominent student's shirt. Mr. Bailey was not only a magician but a musician. He played the harmonica and violin, and also played on goblets filled with different amounts of water.

EASTER LUNCHEONS

On Tuesday, April 5, the cooking class under the supervision of Miss Ruth Wallace, served a luncheon with eight teachers as guests. Katherine Peters and Ethel Horton acted as hostesses.

Miss Ruth Wallace's advanced cooking class served an Easter luncheon to eight teachers today. The hostesses for the luncheon were Pauline Mizak and Betty Reiber. The table appointments bespoke the festive season.

LEGION BAND DANCE

The Junior Legion Band of the Perry S. Gerson post sponsored a dance which will be held in the high school gym. Friday evening, April 8, at 7:30 o'clock.

Members of the band and high school students were invited. The evening's entertainment was comprised of bingo, dancing, cards, and a novel floor show. The orchestra consisted of members of the band under the organization and direction of Bill Mortenberry.

The success of this dance was due to the work of the committee. The general chairman was Paul McCandless. His assistants were: Jess Badger, Hudson Davis, Louis Tozzi and Alec Lisco.

Federal Orchestra Will Play Tonight

The public is invited to attend a free concert tonight at 8 o'clock at the hall of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, corner of South and Jefferson streets. The concert will be played by the district Federal orchestra under the direction of Ben Shulansky. The program will be a varied one, consisting of both classical and popular music as well as singing and instrumental groups. The popular numbers will be directed by Harry Hammond. Owing to the limited size of the auditorium, children must be accompanied by adults.

Training Classes Have Been Formed

Nathaniel F. Forsythe, director of leadership training for the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church, is supervisor of the two leadership training classes formed Thursday evening at the Wesley M. E. church.

The class was well attended at its first meeting, and after a short devotional period, the group was divided into two sections for lessons. There are two courses, "Christian Release For Modern Day Living" and "The Mission of Christianity." These classes are being sponsored by the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church and will meet every Thursday from 7:30 to 8:30.

State A. F. Of L. To Nominate

Philadelphia Man May Be

GREEN CONTINUES ATTACK ON LEWIS

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 8.—The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor Unions in no wise terms the present status of the A. F. of L.-C. I. O. struggle for domination of labor policy, but down to the formal reorganization business here today.

Principal officers were expected to be placed in nomination before the more than 2,000 delegates attending the three-day sessions of the federation. The resolutions committee was expected to report.

The names of James McDevitt, president of the Philadelphia building trades' council, forced to the front as the presidential possibility for the federation. He would succeed John Phillips, who now heads the newly-formed CIO Pennsylvania industrial council. The CIO was formed after A. F. of L. President William Green revoked the charter of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor for failure to purge its ranks of unions affiliated with the John L. Lewis camp.

The law committee of the federation was expected to bring to the floor today the proposal for revision of the federation's present constitution. Such a move, some delegates pointed out, would be favored to the adoption of a new constitution.

Green Speaks
Green appeared before the convention yesterday. His speech pointed to little or no hope for "peace" between the warring labor factions. He urged organized labor to come back into the fold of the American Federation of Labor and avoid the "dictatorial tactics" employed by CIO chieftain Lewis.

Green attacked Lewis for "coming into Pennsylvania and dictating to a political party what it should do." He added:

"And would you believe it, some of the leaders of that party got the jitters."
Green voiced from the specific mention the candidacy of Lt. Gov. Thomas Kennedy, CIO candidate for governor. He left little doubt in the minds of his listeners, however, just what he was aiming at. It was Lewis who "pressure" the Democratic organization to slate Kennedy for chief executive. Failure in this move, he predicted, would lead to announce his Democratic candidacy as an independent.

The A. F. of L. president likened the tactics of Lewis to those of Hitler in the latter's seizure of Austria. "Just like Hitler seized Germany and Austria, the leader of the CIO seized the CIO for private personal use of one single man," Green declared.

Posters Return To City After Travels

Attractive Bits Of Art Work
Travel Many Miles For Two Displays

An attractive set of posters has just returned to the New Castle Public Library, where they were made last year. The posters were shown last week at a convention in Cincinnati where they were sent by request for display.

The posters, which, 10 in all, are made up of paper characters from all parts of the world, showing the various costumes worn in these countries. The lettering on each poster, is some slogan, in opposition to war.

These posters were made over a year ago for a convention being held in the Castle hotel. They were so attractive and drew so much comment that word traveled about the country of their existence.

Soon after the local convention a call came from New Orleans, La., requesting the posters for a public exhibition. Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, sent the posters to the Louisiana city. Upon their return they were put away in the library poster cases, until this year when a Cincinnati convention asked for their use.

Modern Swains Are Warned Against Proposing Marriage In 'Treacherous' Moonlight

(International News Service)
FRANKLIN, Ind., Feb. 28.—Marriage proposals should be made at high noon, instead of in the "treacherous" moonlight, according to Dr. W. G. Mather, Jr., head of the sociology department of Franklin college.

"Using one's head is difficult at any time, especially so in the matter of choosing a life partner," Dr. Mather said.

"Love is by nature an emotional matter, and under strong emotional forces, it is hard to think clearly. The stronger you are attracted to another, go that much slower in forming lifelong attachments, for the very forces of desire clouds your reasoning ability."

Dr. Mather recommended that young people have "lots of dates." "Don't become engaged while freshmen or sophomores in college," he warned. "The mortality of such engagements is high in college."

"Be Sure It's Love"

"Be sure it's love," Dr. Mather advised. "Love is not what it is usually thought of and sung about; love is not an overwhelming desire to be with the other person alone; love is an overwhelming desire for the welfare of the other person, whether you are to be a part of that welfare or not. It is 'other-regarding,' in that you want the best for him or her, not for yourself. Love cannot be jealous."

"Be aware that Mother Nature does not care two cents for all I have been saying. She wants you to have children. She does not even care whether you marry first, or never. She wants children. She makes you want children."

"But the mere desire to have physical relations with another is not fit basis for marriage. It is only a part of marriage; there are also the mental and spiritual companionships that no true love can do without, and without which no marriage can endure."

"And remember, as you judge others, that others must judge you; do not think that courtship consists of your finding a good mate. It consists equally of your being a good mate."

Why should the Nazis hate Stalin? He also is doing his utmost to destroy Christianity.

BEDFORD, Ind.—The Rev. S. S. Lapid deliberately denoted himself from a position paying $99 a week to one that brings him less than $10 weekly because he believes that the problem of rural churches is paramount.

While serving as pastor of the Central Christian (Disciples) church in Bedford, Pa., he could not lose his enthusiasm for rural church work, so he resigned the post to return to Bedford.

The minister had served as pastor of the First Christian church of Bedford from 1919 until 1925 during which he established the Leatherwood country church, to which he has returned as pastor over the protests of members of his Pittsburgh congregation.

Leatherwood church was founded in 1830 and is "mother church" to 15 Christian churches over Lawrence county.

The Rev. Mr. Lapid was editor of the Christian Standard for a number of years.

The minister owns a farm house near the church and plans to spend his leisure time in writing. He is the author of four books and contributes to many magazines.

Huge Spending Program To Combat Recession Is Likely

Program Seems To Have Approval

Loans To Stimulate Business Comprise Large Part Of Schedule

PROPOSAL FROM PRESIDENT SEEN

BY ROBERT A. MAGILL
International News Service
Washington, April 8.—A $1,500,000,000 spending program to combat the recession appeared to have administration approval today.

As President Roosevelt was reported to have decided on the last part of the emergency program, it was widely expected that the following: $1,500,000,000 for relief through WPA.

$1,500,000,000 for pump-priming through public works projects.

$1,500,000,000 for business stimulation, large and small, through the RFC.

To Enact Program.

Congress apparently stood ready to enact the entire program into law as New Dealer and conservative Democrats applauded the president's latest move, a increase in employment and the nation's purchasing power.

The president was authoritatively reported to be ready to propose a $1,500,000,000 bond issue to raise money for non-interest bearing loans to cities, states and political subdivisions for permanent work projects. The loans would be repayable in 50 years at the rate of two per cent of the amount of the loan annually.

It was expected the president would recommend that the program be carried out through the PWA and WPA setups. Secretary of Interior Jones, who commands the now dormant PWA machinery, is scheduled to confer with the president today. WPA Administrator Hopkins conferred with the president yesterday.

Senator Wagner (D) of New York, chairman of the banking and currency committee, hailed the report of the president as "just the thing we need to correct our mistake of ending public spending too abruptly." Many other senators close to the White House expressed similar views.

Warm Up Proposal.

The conservative Democrats were also warm to the proposal. Senator Copeland (D) of New York said: "If we must spend, I think there is no better way to do it than through the PWA on lasting and useful projects."

Congressional leaders, meanwhile, expected speedy approval of the rest of the program.

As the house appropriations committee scheduled consideration of relief requirements April 18, estimates for the 1939 fiscal year, which begins July 1, ranged from $1,000,000,000 to $2,000,000,000. A majority of senators familiar with the subject predicted the president will ask for $1,500,000,000, a half billion more than his estimate in January.

Final action on the bill making $1,500,000,000 of RFC funds available for loans to little and big business and municipalities for work-providing projects, is expected next week. The cause has passed both houses of congress but further senate or conference action is necessary. The house eliminated a senate provision to require interstate Commerce Commission approval of loans to railroads.

QUESTIONABLE VICTORY
(International News Service)
HANOVER, N. H.—If Herbert W. Rathbun, Jr., 22, Dartmouth College undergraduate and his father had kept politics out of the home, Rathbun would have been able to remain at college.

However, as a result of his victory in an election for the post of coroner in Western, R. I., in which he defeated his father, the incumbent, Rathbun had to go home to take over the position.

Hunt For Clues In Slaying Of Choir Master

Officials Are Balked In Efforts To Find Motive For Mystery Killing

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 8.—Apparently stymied thus far, police of adjacent counties in Ohio and Pennsylvania pressed their search for clues today in an effort to unravel the mysterious slaying of Arthur Rowland, 29-year-old choirmaster of Holliday's Cove, W. Va.

Yesterday Pennsylvania State Motor Patrolmen G. S. Knight and Captain Joseph Kerr conferred with Columbus, O., officials after inspecting Rowland's abandoned blood-stained machine at Zanesville. Rowland's body was found in a field near Burgetstown last Tuesday, a bullet through his head. Funeral services were to be held today at Holliday's Cove, where he was prominent as a choir director, church organist and drama director.

He disappeared Monday night after stopping rehearsals for an Easter pageant with the remark that he had to go somewhere.

The next day a strange man, as yet unidentified, was seen driving his car in Ohio, police said.

Relative Of British Royal Family Dies

Marquess Of Milford Haven Dies In London At Age Of 46 Years

(International News Service)
LONDON, April 8.—The Marquess of Milford Haven, a relative of the British royal family, died at a nursing home here today after a brief illness. He was 46.

The marquess had a distinguished naval career in the World War. His widow was the daughter of the grand duke of Russia, a cousin of Czar Nicholas.

Milford Haven was the son of the late Prince Louis of Battenberg, personal aide-de-camp to King Edward VII and King George V, who renounced his titles and changed his name to Mountbatten out of allegiance to the British crown during the war.

Duncho will wrestle in the 145 pound class and Yakowicz will wrestle in the 165 class. Yakowicz is a Penn State student and is on the varsity wrestling team at State.

Life Goes on in Barcelona

Boys will be boys, bombs and cannon notwithstanding. Here are two youngsters having fun with their scooter in the streets of Barcelona, and in the background the ruins left by the air-raiding of Franco's fliers, whose recent raids killed more than 1,000 persons. Young as they are, the children are hardened to sudden death.

Old-Fashioned Dude Ranch Now Going Collegiate

(International News Service)
LARAMIE, Wyo., April 8.—The old-fashioned western dude ranch is going collegiate.

It was predicted here recently that instead of the old cowhands from the range, the dude ranches of the west will in the future be manned by college-bred wranglers.

The prediction was based on a course being offered at the University of Wyoming in dude ranching.

B. S. In Dude Ranching

Don Smith, of Baslin, Wyo., will receive a B. S. degree in the dude ranching course at the university here in June to become the first student in the nation to get such a sheepskin. Beginning April 1, Smith will put his college training to practical use on the A-Bar-A dude ranch near Encampment, Wyo.

The dude ranching course was first inaugurated in 1936 at the university and includes courses in agriculture, business training, accounting, public speaking, publicity, public relations and related fields of study.

Brunettes Are Popular Choice As Secretaries

(International News Service) DENVER, April 8.—Business executives today prefer women secretaries and stenographers, and brunettes are their choice over blonds, according to a survey made recently by the University of Denver School of Commerce.

In an effort to determine which sex businessmen prefer, 500 questionnaires were sent to Denver executives by Mrs. Neva Hayden, director of the Placement Bureau of the Commerce school.

The survey revealed that 52 percent of the men employers prefer female secretaries and stenographers, and 21 percent preferred male secretaries. Two percent claimed no preference. A majority of those preferring female employees said they liked brunettes best and although their blonde sisters might be preferred after office hours, the survey did not cover this problem.

Explaining Preference

The businessmen said they liked women because they were "more willing to cooperate, pay attention to details and they have the ability to take orders and meet the public."

Those preferring men secretaries gave as their reason: "Permanence of the job (marriage not interfering as it does with women), more interest and more endurance."

Of the total number of girls enrolled at the School of Commerce 73 percent are brunettes. This figure shows, Mrs. Hayden said, that "it is a good thing employers do prefer brunettes because most of our graduates are brunettes."

The Denver bosses said there are possibilities for advancement for well-trained male stenographers and secretaries especially in technical fields.

Even in older days (International News Service) BURLINGTON, Va.—Stone Age women had that "come hither" look about their eyes, too. Among a collection of Stone Age implements loaned the University of Vermont by Brooklyn Museum were two paleolithic used for grinding malachite, a form of copper ore used in making green shadow paint for the eyes.

Summer furs are very much in the picture. The popular pelts for warm weather are white astrakhan, white lamb, summer and dyed ermine, black broadtail and silver fox.

Methodism Gains In Philippines

(International News Service) MANILA, P. I., April 8.—One of the most remarkable growths in missionary work anywhere in the world during recent years has been the growth of Methodism in the Philippines Islands.

Methodism in the Philippines, begun in 1909, now has a membership of 90,000 people, and a constituency several times that number. There is a total of 243 Philippine Methodist pastors, serving 406 organized Sunday schools, and constantly itinerating and preaching in communities where there are as yet no churches or schools. More than 42,000 boys and girls are enrolled in Sunday schools and Epworth league chapters. There are 75 deaconesses of the church, and a hospital that last year served 24,781 persons.

While it is predicted that navy is the favorite choice of colors for the spring tailor, it was observed at a recent luncheon in New York that black was the favorite with the smart women attired in tailored suits.

A NEW WASHER?

YOU MUST THINK I'M MADE OF MONEY!

BUT, JIM, OUR OLD WASHER WON'T GET THINGS WHITE ANY MORE. JUST LOOK AT THESE MARKS! THEY'RE POSITIVELY GRAY!

GRAY OR NO GRAY—WE SIMPLY CAN'T AFFORD A NEW WASHER! AND THAT'S FINAL!

WHAT IN THE WORLD! WHY AREN'T YOU USING YOUR WASHER?

IT'S JUST ABOUT ON ITS LAST LEGS—SO WE HAD TO GO BACK TO SCRUBBING AND BOILING UNTIL I CAN PERSUADE JIM TO GET A NEW ONE.

BUT DARLING, HOW PRIMITIVE! WHY DON'T YOU TRY THAT NEW SOAP DISCOVERY—OXYDOL? IT GETS CLOTHES 4 TO 5 SHADES WHITER, EVEN IN OLD MACHINES.

NOT OXYDOL!—IT'S A NEWBORN THAT'S SAFETY ITSELF. I'VE WASHED THIS COLORED DRESS IN IT FOR MONTHS AND IT'S STILL BRIGHT AS CAN BE.

I'LL ORDER SOME NOW.

LATER

IT'S A MIRACLE! JUST FIFTY MINUTES IN THE CUPBOARD AND THESE CLOTHES ARE SO WHITE THEY FAIRLY SPARKLE!

THAT'S BECAUSE OXYDOL SOAKS OUT DIRT WHILE THE WASHER IS RUNNING. YOU GET DOUBLE-ACTION WASH!

SAY, DEAR, THESE PAJAMAS ARE WHITE AS SNOW! DON'T REALLY NEED A NEW WASHING MACHINE, AFTER ALL.

THAT'S RIGHT! FINDING OXYDOL WAS JUST LIKE FINDING MONEY—THE WAY IT PUT NEW LIFE INTO THAT OLD WASHING MACHINE.

"LIKE GETTING A NEW WASHER FREE"

—Say Women of This New, SAFE Miracle Soap

NOW—see while things come 4 to 5 shades whiter in old machine or new! For scientific tests of OXYDOL against other soaps reveal these important things:

First:—One cup of OXYDOL makes as much rich, lively suds as 3 cups of other soaps tested, yet, bars and granulated soaps.

Second:—Cup for cup, OXYDOL washed clothes 4 to 5 shades whiter and brighter than other soaps tested—including less efficient GRANULATED soaps.

In Tub Washing, OXYDOL's brisk suds soak out dirt in 15 minutes—without scrubbing or boiling. If even "tough" stains come clean with a quick rub! Yet OXYDOL is SAFE for hands—safe for all washable colors.

So don't blame your old washer if clothes come dingy gray. Switch to OXYDOL and see everything come so much brighter, you'll say "it's like getting a new washer free!"

Storms Inflict Heavy Damage In Southern States

Nine Known Dead And Property Damage High
In Alabama And Mississippi

(International News Service)
ALICEVILLE, Ala., April 8.—Sweeping across portions of Alabama and Mississippi, spring tornadoes today left nine known dead, scores injured and an untold amount of property damage.
As survivors dug their way out of debris left in the tornado area, torrential rains brought immediate flood danger to many sections of Alabama.
Aliceville bore the brunt of the storm, with nine known dead and approximately two score suffering from injuries.

Many Known Dead
The list of dead at Aliceville as compiled by Mayor F. H. Sanders included two white persons and seven negroes. The white victims were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hudgins. The others: Henry Salmond, Perry Bell Edwards, Chick Edwards, the infant child of Britton McCaa, Janice Porter, Zinnie Gibson and an unidentified woman.
Torrential rains which accompanied the tornadoes continued over much of Alabama today. Creeks, small streams and rivers in many sections were raging torrents this morning and continued to rise.
The Cahaba, Alabama and Tombigbee rivers were rising rapidly, with the latter stream expected to reach a stage of 57 feet at Demopolis—18 feet above flood stage.
Residents of the lowlands in Dallas county have been urged to evacuate their homes.

Finding Ourselves In Service

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Mark 8:36—"What doth it profit a man, to gain the whole world and forfeit his life?"

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 10 (Palm Sunday) is Mark 8:27-38, the Golden Text being Mark 8:36, "What doth it profit a man, to gain the whole world and forfeit his life?")

On this happy Palm Sunday, or during the Holy Week, hundreds of thousands of boys and girls, men and women will be confessing their faith in Jesus Christ as Son of God and Saviour of their souls. Uniting with the church they should immediately begin to find places of service for themselves, for they are saved to serve.

Preparation for Service

Over two years of fellowship and teaching had preceded the examination through which the Master Teacher put his pupils at Caesarea Philippi. They have seen his divine power over disease, demons and death; they have heard truth from his lips and seen it lived perfectly in his life. He is now ready to reveal to them the objective of all his teaching and of his mission in the world, viz.: the principle of the cross and its necessity for him and for them. Are his disciples ready to see the cross emerge in his life and theirs? Can they take it? Are they following him for what they can get out of him or for what they can give in service to others? This will depend upon their appreciation of him and of his mission in the world.

Faith Basic to Service

So Jesus asked them, "Whom do men say that I am?" They replied, "John the Baptist, Elijah or one of the prophets." But Jesus was more than any of these. He was himself the goal and fulfillment of all prophecy. Then, because religion is nothing unless it is made vitally and warmly personal, Jesus asked them pointedly, "But who say ye that I am?" That this is the crux of his religion is evident in the similar question fired later at his enemies. "What think ye of Christ? Whose son is he?" Voicing not only his own faith, but also that of all the twelve, Peter answered, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." Matthew records our Lord's satisfaction at this reply and his declaration that upon this faith in his deity and saviorhood he would build his church and guarantee its perpetuity through the ages.

The Cross Emerges

Assured of this faith in the hearts of his disciples, Jesus sets his face definitely toward the cross and explains its necessity for himself and those who would follow him. "He began to teach them that the Son of man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders and the chief priests, and the scribes, and be killed and after three days rise again." This was not only a new idea of his disciples, but an entirely different ideal from what they had set up for their master. To them it was shockingly abhorrent, so much so that Peter began to rebuke him for entertaining any such thought about himself. Our Lord recognized Peter's offense at the cross to be the same old satanic suggestion that had assailed him in the wilderness temptation, and accordingly, rebuked it as of devilish origin. "Get thee behind me, Satan! for thou mindest not the things of God, but the things of men." He went further and proclaimed the necessity of the cross for his followers as for himself: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me." Refusal of this challenge of the cross means failure and loss of life, for "whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's shall save it."

Little Danger Of Flood At Present, Weatherman Says

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 8.—Viewing this week's freak snow with little concern, Weatherman W. S. Brotz-man said today there was little danger at present of flood waters in the western section of the state. Light rains fell today over the watersheds of the Allegheny and Monongahela. Most of the Allegheny watershed was blanketed with the heavy snow, ranging from three to ten inches in depth.

Correct this sentence: "What pleases me most," said the man on relief, "is the gentle courtesy and consideration I receive."

Celebrate Landing Of Swedish Expedition Back In Year Of 1638

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 8.—It was a great day for the Swedes in Pennsylvania today!

Today is Forefathers' Day, a day proclaimed by Gov. George H. Earle as a legal holiday to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Swedish expedition along the lower Delaware river.

It was just three centuries ago today—April 8, 1638—that the hardy band of slightly more than two score, and headed by Peter Minuit, established the first permanent settlement near New Wilmington, Del., sites on which Philadelphia and Chester were built, were purchased years ago from the Swedes.

Official business at the state capital was halted today with hundreds of state workers leaving their desks for the week at the close of business yesterday. Not even "kitchen forces" were maintained at the state house.

Banks, local public offices and schools were closed throughout the state. Several schools held programs reminiscent of the historic Swedish landing. Native costumes were worn in some instances.

Although hundreds of celebrations were held throughout the state, the principal attention is drawn to the "City of Brotherly Love"—Philadelphia. There Governor Earle and Swedish Minister to the United States Filip Bostrom, will speak. Other prominent persons also will make brief talks.

Even Sweden, itself, will take part in the celebration. The program in Philadelphia will be carried to Swedish listeners on the other side of the globe by radio. Sweden is holding some festivities, too.

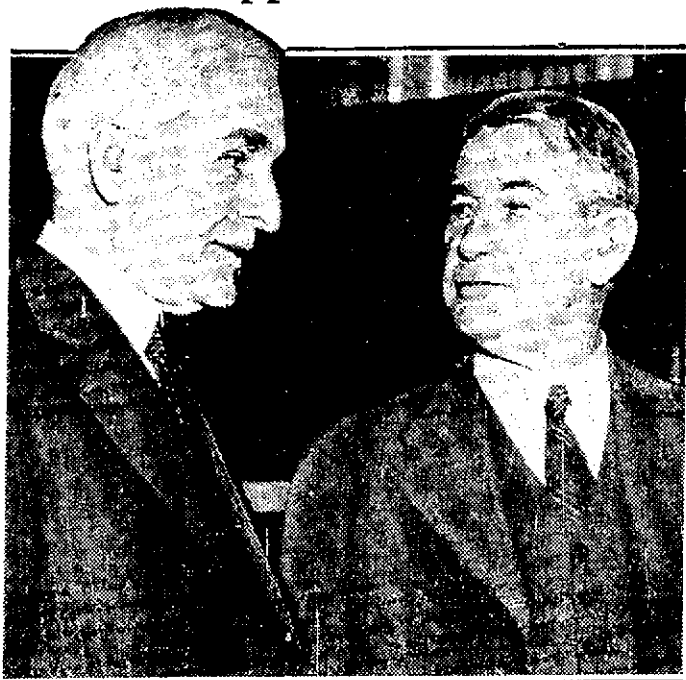

Governor Earle and an official party journeyed to Sweden last year to make some preliminary arrangements for the tercentary celebration.

Accept Provision In Reorganization Measure In House

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—A new concession in the bitter reorganization bill fight was made today by house leaders when they offered, and the house accepted, a provision limiting the comptroller-general to a 15-year term of office.

The comptroller-general, who would be transferred to the executive department under the bill, would still be subject to removal by the president.

Hull Opposes Beef Tariff

Secretary of State Cordell Hull appeared before the Senate Finance Committee to defend the State Department's reciprocal tariff agreements, and voiced his opposition to tariff on imported canned beef. Western producers urge a boost in the duty on pork and beef as protection for domestic packers. Hull is shown at left. With him is Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, member of the committee. Cop on Trial for Life

Arthur W. Chalmers (right), former New York City mounted policeman, is pictured in General Sessions Court in New York as his trial for the slaying of Irma Pradier, hospital worker, got under way. With him is Harry Simon, his attorney. Chalmers, married and father of two children, claims Miss Pradier was shot by accident when he wrested a gun from her hands as she tried to commit suicide. Helium Supply Remains In U. S.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—Helium for inflation of Germany's new dirigible, the LZ-130, is still on this side of the Atlantic, with good prospects of its remaining here for some time.

Mr. Roosevelt's answer was a simple no.

a congressional act, the Helium was held up at the last minute by Ickes for "further study of the contract." Fear that Adolf Hitler would divert the gas for military uses, and a flood of letters protesting the shipment, are reported to have occasioned Ickes' decision to delay the shipment.

Ice Damage To Phone Lines Is Heavy In County

Several Rural Lines Are Almost Completely Isolated By Storm T Is Week

REPAIRS ARE GOING FORWARD

Extensive damage has been done to long distance telephone lines by the freezing rain storm which started in the early hours of April 7. Vardyn R. Caldwell, district manager for the Bell Telephone company, stated today:

Emergency crews of telephone repairmen have been mobilized, he said, to keep telephone lines open. Special forces of men have been brought in from other parts of the state not affected by the storm and repair work has been going steadily forward since Thursday morning. Although the storm is extraordinary in its violence for this time of the year, no towns served by the Bell company are isolated from any point.

Direct lines between various cities have been crippled in many instances with poles and wires crushed to the ground, he continued, but we have a large number of alternate routes which have been placed into service since the rainfall started. Out of town calls are going to their destinations over these circuits planned for such emergencies as the present one.

Mr. Caldwell stated that the special corps of workmen will remain in the localities affected until the storm abates and service is restored to normal.

In the Princeton district, much of the system of the Princeton Telephone company was put out of commission, the lines being crushed to the ground under the weight of the ice which gathered on the wires.

In the Plainville area, a representative of the Plainville Telephone company stated that only three out of the 27 lines of the company were in service, the rest having been put entirely out of commission by the storm.

Other rural companies in the district also suffered heavily, it was stated.

Co-eds Are Now Taught How To Rear Children

(International News Service) SEATTLE, Wash.—The rearing of children is recognized by the University of Washington as one of the most exacting of undertakings. And here each quarter approximately 50 senior co-eds, many of whom will be mothers themselves some day, are learning scientific methods of child care and development.

Four times a week they attend lectures by Dr. Jennie L. Rountree, professor of home economics, and on Fridays little boys and girls ranging in age from one month to eight years are brought to class by Seattle mothers and are submitted to the undergraduate child care experts.

The youngsters are carefully weighed and measured, their individual histories are recorded, and the mothers are advised on types of clothing, playthings and books best suited for each particular child. Then they are taken to Lewis Hall on the campus where a special play room is provided. Here the boys and girls are taught social adjustment—joining in games with each other, learning to play independently and learning to dress themselves.

"Raising children," Dr. Rountree, who has taught the course for 15 years, said, "is a science of cause and effect relationships. And the purpose of this course is to let parents to regard the child as a whole individual instead of as a mere plaything, while at the same time interesting the girls in the fact that raising children is a profession requiring as much intelligence as teaching school."

Marietta Is In Gala Attire For Big Celebration

Thirty-Seven Young College "Modern Pioneers" Land After Lengthy Jaunt

(International News Service) MARIETTA, O., April 8.—Three hundred and fifty bunches of clams, carried here from Ipswich, Mass., by a "pioneer" caravan emulating the 1738 trek of the first settlers of the northwest territory, will be baked and served during the New England-Northwest Territory celebration today.

The "pioneers" landed here yesterday after sailing down the Ohio river from West Newton, Pa. They were commemorating the 150th anniversary of the founding of Marietta, the first incorporated town in the northwest territory.

A parade, which was described over a national radio hookup, featured the afternoon celebration. Band concerts, speeches and banquets took up the remainder of the time.

A carnival air prevailed here and will continue through Sunday, when the "pioneers" leave on a tour of five states of the northwest territory.

A pale pink felt hat bound with black ribbon with a pink and black bird in the center front reflects the trend toward the large silhouette for summer.

Western District Will Convene Here

Christian Endeavor Assembly At First Christian Church April 20

Plans have been completed by the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor union executives for the western district meeting which is to take place in the First Christian church on Wednesday evening, April 20.

A banquet will be served at 6:30 p. m. Warren G. Hoopes, general secretary of the Pennsylvania State Christian Endeavor union, will be the toastmaster. A committee consisting of Louise Davies, Ruth Garrity and Emma Patton will have charge of the decorations.

Following the banquet there will be five conferences, as follows: Junior Christian Endeavor, Mrs. Roy Plants, western district junior superintendent; Intermediate Christian Endeavor, Margaret Burton, state intermediate superintendent; program building, Mary Bartusek, state evangelism superintendent; officers, Harry Kuch, Pennsylvania state president.

This western district meeting brings delegations from Indiana, Jefferson, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler and Clarion counties. Rev. Lester Case will lead the music at the banquet. Rev. Case is the music director for the district. Ruth Wolford of Wilkesburg will lead the music at the evening session. This will be the last tour of the state for the president, Harry Kuch. This is the third time Lawrence county has been host to the district, and each time finds a better program.

The committee responsible for this year's program is: J. Wilson Byers, western district president; Geraldine Fry, Lawrence county past president, and Henry Goughler, Lawrence county present president. Plans were made at the April meeting of the executives for a visitation by the executives of each society belonging to the county union, on Sunday, April 10.

White linen printed with tiny blue and pink flowers is used for a new summer grade which is lightly boned at the front.

British Demand Mexico Turn Back Big Oil Companies

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 8.—A sharp conflict in viewpoint on methods of solving Mexico's seizure of oil lands developed today between the United States and Great Britain over Britain's sharply-worded demand to Mexico for restoration of the oil properties.

The British action, it was apparent, came as a distinct surprise to the American state department.

While Britain resorted to a stiff diplomatic note to Mexico branding the oil land expropriation as "unheralded and unjustified," and demanding their immediate return, the policy followed by the American government has been one of attempted soft-spoken conciliation.

Program bindings are being used extensively on both coals and suits.

Pennsylvania Power Company kept a force of men at work all day yesterday and last night with the result that electric current interruptions were almost all cleared by morning. There are a few cases of interruption which yet remain to be cleared away, one being on the Wood City highway, where a pole came down. However, it is believed the situation will be normal again by night.

Twenty-two airplanes, valued at nearly a million dollars, were destroyed when a fire, said to have been caused by a gasoline leak, destroyed a huge hangar at the municipal airport in Miami, Fla. Among the ships were such craft as the Seversky record-breaking amphibian, the Palmer stratosphere plane, Gar Wood's luxurious sky cruiser, and a plane specially built for Jimmy Mattern, round-the-world flier. A series of explosions marked the blaze, which completely destroyed the hangar.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Garner Being Given Mention

Political Talk Centers Around Vice President For Promotion

AGE COUNTS AGAINST HIM

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg. By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist. WASHINGTON, April 8.—It is a commonplace that a vice president of the United States stands no chance of graduating into the presidency except through the White House tenant's death.

Once in first place, a promoted vice president may be presidentially nominated next time, such as was the case with Theodore Roosevelt or Calvin Coolidge. Otherwise the vice presidency traditionally rates as a dead end politically.

It would not be so sure, however, that Vice President John N. Garner might not be a pretty fair 1940 Democratic possibility. If he were a dozen or 15 years younger, his age certainly forecloses him. He will be 74 two twelvemonths hence.

POLITICIANS DISCUSS HIM All the same, one hears on Capitol Hill, again and again, the suggestion, "What a dandy candidate 'Texas Jack' would make, provided he weren't more than 55 or 60."

I do not suppose the rank-and-file of the electorate thinks much about him, for the very reason that he obviously is over elderly.

But politicians continually discuss his qualifications, those of his own party regretting bitterly that time can't be turned backward in its flight to make him eligible.

A BULL'S-EYE FOR JOHN The other day, when Garner, on being offered $1,500 to lend his name to publication, answered, "John Garner isn't worth that much and the vice presidency isn't for sale," he scored a bull's-eye.

He may not have intended it so, but it was interpreted as a terrific dig at other folk in high places. "It experience counts for anything he has had plenty of it—a generation in the house of representatives, minority leader, speaker and president of the senate."

He is not a wonderful orator, but he is so-so. Moreover, such oratorical ability as he has, he knows how to control.

He is no end likable. And he is moderately able—partisan but tolerably competent. And rational—businessmen trust him.

NOT A NEW DEALER He is not a New Dealer. He has not taken any noticeable anti-New Deal attitude, but everyone knows that he is out of sympathy with New Deal policies in general. He has not been noisy about it, but essentially he is a conservative Democrat.

Unmistakably he has been a brake on New Deal activities.

A vice president is not supposed to have a bit of influence in such matters, but Garner HAS had, because he knows his "stuff" so thoroughly.

He is influential in the senate, though he has no vote there.

Unofficially he is influential in the house of representatives also. As former speaker he is certain to be.

He is influential at the White House likewise; he knows so much. The White House unquestionably dislikes his philosophy, but it has to respect his political wisdom.

WOULD CATCH CONSERVATIVES As a presidential candidate, he would run (a Texas) like a house afire in the south.

He would catch all the conservative voters everywhere.

There is talk of a conservative Democratic and Republican amalgamation. Garner, as its leader, would suit its purpose admirably.

Oh, time, in thy flight, what cards are gummed!

Dr. J. M. Weddell Gets Promotion

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, April 8.—Dr. James MacConnell Weddell, graduate of Westminster with an A. B. in 1903 and a Bachelor of Music degree 1920, has been made head of the department of music at Knox College, Galesburg, Illinois, where he has been in the music conservatory for the past 30 years.

A native of Pennsylvania, Dr. Weddell was made a Fellow of the American Guild of Organists, 1935, and in 1936 was granted a Doctor of Music degree by Knox. He has written many organ compositions and songs, among them the music to the Knox football song.

Brownmiller. They included: Mercer county—1.55 miles, traffic bound surfacing between Mercer borough and Centertown in Wolf Creek township, B. B. Construction Co., Phillipsburg, $8,335.

Arlington Avenue Quarterly Meeting

The third quarterly meeting service of the conference year will be held in the Arlington Avenue Free Methodist church beginning this evening and continuing over Sunday. A meeting of the official board will follow the preaching service Saturday night. The services will be conducted by the District Elder and Rev. P. R. Ruth of Sharon.

AROUND CITY HALL

Should the city carry out its intention of asking the WPA to approve a project for the improvement of the hollow from the Park avenue fire station to Wilmington avenue, and the approval is granted, a worthwhile improvement should result. There is a bad water condition in the hollow and the only alleviative measure is to pipe it, according to Mayor Charles E. McGrath.

Board of tax appeals and revision convened yesterday morning at city hall. They acted upon recommendations of the City Assessor A. C. Shoaf. Assessments levied for garages, now removed and for a difference in the classification of occupation of some local citizens were acted upon. None of the changes concerned large assessments.

It is likely that immediate steps will be taken by city authorities to repair the top of number 2 cell at the city police station. The man who crawled out of the hole was slim but his feat showed that the jail is not escape-proof. After he emerged it was no difficult trick for him to climb iron bars over a window to the top of the city building and then descend a telephone pole.

City council has agreed to provide the room and the county commissioners will bear the expense of a telephone and stationery for the housekeeping bureau, if the WPA approves the project, which will be submitted by the county commissioners. The city will house the necessary help, to be paid for by the WPA, in a third floor, city building office.

Easter Meetings At Two Churches

Special Services At East Brook And Neshannock U. P. Churches

Rev. R. E. Douglass has arranged for special Easter services Palm Sunday until Easter in the East Brook and Neshannock United Presbyterian church.

First there will be a pre-communion service tonight at the Neshannock church, with Rev. E. M. Wallace of Center preaching. A communicants' class conducted by Rev. Douglass will precede the service, at 7:15; also on Sunday morning during the Sunday school hour at 9:45. The Lord's Supper will be observed at the 11 o'clock hour, that day, and at the 8 o'clock service Sunday evening there will be sacred music presented by the choir numbering 26 voices.

East Brook and Neshannock congregations are joining in the Passion Week services. The meetings on the first three nights of the week will be at 8 o'clock in the Neshannock church, with the following speakers: Monday, the pastor; Tuesday, Rev. E. G. Russell of New Castle; and Wednesday, the Fulton Four from Plainsboro. On Thursday and Friday evenings the meetings will be at the East Brook church with the following speakers: Thursday, Rev. J. Charles Paul; and Friday, Rev. T. Matthew Gilliland.

Every effort is being made to make this week of services worth while, and the pastor is looking for good attendance and lasting results.

Development Of New Industries Great Need; Air Conditioning Cited

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1938, Publishers Financial Bureau)

SAVANNAH, Georgia, April 8.—Haired between groups in this country is greater now than at any time since the Civil war. Scarcely a day passes that some group is not at another's throat with a 10,000,000 demand for Washington business, labor, utilities, and investors to pull together. Consequently, this article will be read by President Roosevelt, John L. Lewis, David Lilienthal, the U. S. A. and Wendell L. Willkie of Commonwealth & Southern. At any rate, I am sending all these men marked copies.

What Not To Do

(1) Picking over what now exists instead of trying to produce more is our first big mistake. Only as more is produced is there more to divide. If we distributed the entire national production equally among all the people, omitting small children, it would amount to only about what $500 can buy. Here is a simple problem for every reader. Total the annual wages of the bread-winners in your home. Then take the number of people in your family, less babies, and multiply this number by $500. The difference between these two figures will show how much your family would gain or lose each year if the national income was equally distributed. You can see that we will never get far by fighting over what already exists.

(2) Trying to revive old industries is our second big mistake. I would like to see the railroads helped, the farmers helped, the coal miners helped, and other groups helped. "Helping" these groups by bolstering up wages and prices, however, will never put any more people back to work. The trouble with our government financing today is that we are spending two dollars to save one dollar. Furthermore, we will never get out of debt by getting into more debt. Industries, like people, have a definite length of life. A study of history shows that prosperity has come about through the development of new industries—never through trying to revive old, existing industries.

A Needed New Industry

During the past three months, I have devoted a large amount of time to an impartial study of the various new industries on the horizon. I feel that air-conditioning offers the greatest opportunity. If the country would declare a moratorium on political back-biting and spend the same energy on whipping up enthusiasm over air-conditioning, five million people could be returned to jobs. Most of the proposed new industries would put out of work some people who are now engaged in existing occupations. This is not true of the air-conditioning industry. It could directly or indirectly give millions of people jobs and go a long way toward restoring employment to normal conditions.

I will admit that air-conditioning would throw some doctors, and perhaps druggists, out of jobs. I have in mind the fact that air-conditioning greatly improves the health and efficiency of workers in factories, stores, and homes. Remember that air-conditioning is much more than merely cooling your rooms. It means drying the air in summer, and moistening it in winter. There are only three things in life, viz: How we think, how we feel, and how we love. Certainly air-conditioning can become a great factor in the first two of these and perhaps an influence in the third.

What About The Power Row?

We see much in the papers today about the row in congress over the T. V. A. I feel that the administration has been unfair to the public utilities. They do not deserve the persecution which they have had. On the other hand, if all parties would stop scrapping and unitedly get behind air-conditioning, the whole problem would solve itself. Due to the demands for power from air-conditioning, there will be a shortage of generating capacity even after the new big government dams are in full operation. Some day, when air-conditioning is universally used, the utilities will thank President Roosevelt for his foresight in providing this additional electric power.

Next week I expect to spend in Washington. While there, I shall visit the White House offices, the senate, and the house of representatives; also the offices of some of your congressmen. I expect to find all these offices air-conditioned. Yet less than one-tenth of one per cent of the office buildings, stores, and factories in this country are air-conditioned. Why should these political leaders deny the people something which they themselves consider indispensable? They should pass along this great improvement to others.

What About Relief?

The Roosevelt administration has gone into debt twenty billion dollars in trying to beat depression. I do not object so much to the money involved. The great harm has been the undermining of character. I often wonder whether, if our great western country were unsettled today, our young men and women would have the guts to go out and build the railroads, new the forests, start the farms, and do the other things which our grandparents did seventy-five years ago.

But let us not cry over spilt milk. Let us blame no one, not even the president, for anything that has been done up to date. From now on, however, let us devote our energies to developing new industries. If possible, let us select industries like air-conditioning which will not compete with existing industries. In this way, relief can steadily be cut down, self-respect will be restored and the country can enter a real period of prosperity and growth.

GREENWOOD, Mass.—So far as Ray Hancusa can find out, only two other private collectors in the world—one in California, the other in Ireland—are engaged in his present game of collecting automobile number plates from different states.

It's a topsy turvy world, as everyone knows. The latest in the fashion world is evening sweaters. They are worn at the little theaters over filmy evening dresses, and are usually silky and loose knit.

Working while the personnel of the court house offices is asleep, the painters who were recently employed to paint the court house corridors have gotten their work well under way. Work on the visible index project which has been in charge of WPA workers since last July is showing results and it is thought that another several months will close the project up. When it is completed the county treasurer will have the tax liens segregated in such a fashion that it will be possible to get the information concerning a piece of property in a moment's notice.

The past five years have added immeasurably to the work of the county treasurer. Unpaid taxes mean liens and with the passage of the partial payment legislation by the general assembly this increased the work a lot.

In order to check all taxes and liens against property at the present time it is necessary to go through many dockets and trace each step through. As a result it takes time to get an exact statement of taxes, but Joseph H. Hartland, the county treasurer, hopes that with the visible index system working, the work will be shortened to the benefit of everybody.

Blouses in bright stripes or florals are also worn with boleros. Some have scarf scarves to tie about the waist, long.
